INVESTMENT PHILOSOPHY

- Stock-picking based on fundamental analysis (Private Equity approach)
- Investing in temporarily disliked listed companies (Value/Contrarian approach): a focused approach on longstanding knowledge of leading high-quality companies (a reduced selection of approx. 700 companies), undervalued by the market (growth either underestimated or restructuring of a company having undergone a fall in earnings), in order to minimize risk
- Seeking returns over a 3 to 5 year horizon: unconstrained and benchmark agnostic approach
- Build a high-conviction but diversified portfolio (30 to 50 holdings)

FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

Dear Investors,

In February 2020, World Winners fell by -5,9%, compared to a -7.3% drop for its benchmark index.

The sharp decline of stock markets was due to the economic consequences of the coronavirus' worldwide spread.

That being said, the decline in your fund's performance was not only due to the outbreak. The sale of one of G4S's business units was not well received by the market, judging the sale price disappointing. In response to that, investors penalized the stock price which lost -12% (GBP) over the month. On the contrary, we consider this unit was sold at a reasonable price allowing G4S to reduce its debt and, believe the stock price decrease is not justified.

Even though we find this month's performance unsatisfactory, we remain optimistic for the following reasons:

1. China has succeeded in confining a region hosting more than 50 million people and has implemented significant public health measures. The country seems well prepared. According to China's statistics, the number of new cases in the region dropped below the number of recoveries at the end of February.
2. Central banks are increasingly injecting liquidity into the economy to ease the economic impact of the virus. This in turn, makes equities relatively more attractive, compared with most other asset classes.
3. Our industrial companies have been carefully selected for their resilience to economic cycles, and our value-style service companies show a significant upside potential in their residual value. We think their valuation, in terms of free cash flow yield, is attractive and all the more so after the market correction.
4. We don't know when nor how quickly the coronavirus will come to an end, but we know that no outbreak in the history of mankind has lasted forever. We will take advantage of this market correction to increase our investments in high-quality companies at low prices.
5. Among the companies who published their annual reports in February, most of them have shown strong results for the year 2019.

We are fully confident in the value creation potential of our companies, while facing a lasting environment of low interest rates, in which many assets classes remain expensive.

Ultimately, undervaluations always correct themselves in financial markets.

We thank you for the trust you have placed in us.
