INVESTMENT PHILOSOPHY

- Stock-picking based on fundamental analysis (Private Equity approach)
- Focused approach on longstanding knowledge of leading high-quality companies (a reduced selection of approx. 700 companies), undervalued by the market (growth either underestimated or restructuring of a company having undergone a fall in earnings), in order to minimize risk
- Seeking returns over a 3 to 5 year horizon: unconstrained and benchmark agnostic approach
- Build a high-conviction but diversified portfolio (30 to 50 holdings)

FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

Dear Investors,

During the month of May, the performance of your World Winners fund, like the MSCI World index, remained unchanged.

Growth and inflation indicators were positive in the United States and in Europe, as vaccination campaigns gathered steam and economies gradually reopened.

Over the last few weeks, investors have been worried that the temporary increase in inflation might persist, which would force central banks to suspend their accommodative monetary policies prematurely.

This month, another company in your fund was subject to a takeover bid.

At Home (home furnishings – USA) was bought out by a private equity fund for $2.8 billion, 20% higher than the last pre-bid share price on May 5th 2021. We became interested in the company towards the end of the Covid crisis, as its share price had dropped by around 95%. At that time, all non-essential businesses (including At Home's stores) were still closed, and the market was predicting that the group would go bankrupt. Lee Bird (CEO of At Home and a former Nike executive) and his team managed to maintain 20% of the company's revenue, by rapidly moving to a click-and-collect model. This enabled the group to survive the crisis. We initiated our position at $19 a share and exited five months later at $37 for a return on investment of around 100%.

As for 51JOB (recruiting services – China), the company's principal shareholders are pursuing discussions for the group's potential delisting. This sparked speculations that were favourable to the share price during the month of May.

Following the takeover in the last few months of two UK companies, G4S and Kaz Minerals, and of the Chinese company 58.com, these two new transactions are further proof that with the end of the Covid crisis in sight, the high-quality listed companies in our portfolio are undervalued.

While in each case, we obtained a premium on their recent share price, we believe that these opportunistic investors have acquired future value-creating companies at attractive prices.

As we explained in our previous report, we think Chinese digital companies are very attractive, and this month, they published good first quarter 2021 results.

We thank you for the trust you have placed in us.

Thierry Flechia and the management team.
